a. BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

Gadsby's Tavern, which comprises two adjoining tavern buildings, is one of America's most famous taverns. The smaller of the two buildings was built in 1752 and known as the City Tavern, and sometimes as the Coffee House. During the last half of the 18th century, it was an important center in Virginia life. Washington recruited his first command of Provincial troops for the Great Meadows campaign in 1754 at City Tavern. He was quartered here when he received his commission as Major on General Braddock's staff. The Fairfax Resolves were prepared here -- those resolves that eventually grew into the Virginia Bill of Rights. In this tavern met the convention called by Washington to settle the question of import duties on the Potomac River commerce. The question seemed of larger importance and in time led to the convention in Philadelphia which prepared the Constitution of the United States. The first celebration of the adoption of the Federal Constitution subsequently took place here on June 28, 1788.

John Wise built a large three-story brick addition in 1792. It was opened on February 11, with festivities commemorating Washington's birthday. In Wise's new hotel, Alexandria architecture reached its highest expression, and it was the ultimate in comfort and elegance for its days.

In 1794, John Gadsby took over the tavern under a lease. As fine as the tavern had been under Wise, it was to reach new excellence and fame. Running the two taverns as one, under the name Gadsby's Tavern, he spread the fame of its comfort and culinary art throughout the country. From Boston to New Orleans, the traveler did his best to make Gadsby's. Gadsby established his own state line from Alexandria to Philadelphia, and it was necessary to be a guest with him in order to get a ticket.

Such men as George Mason, Thomas Jefferson, Alexander Hamilton, George Clinton, Benjamin Franklin, General Braddock, the Byrds, Fitzhughs, Lees and Washingtons are among those who visited Gadsby's. Indeed the two taverns housed and fed most of the famous persons visiting the country from 1752 for the next one hundred years.

The two buildings that make up the Tavern were purchased by the American Legion, Post #24 in 1926. Since then, patriotic organizations of Alexandria have joined in its restoration. The ballroom woodwork of the larger City Hotel, which was taken for the American Wing in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, has been copied in detail and replaced. The front of this building was restored by the Mount Vernon Chapter of the D.A.R., and the main doorway was purchased from the Metropolitan Museum and restored in 1949. Two ballrooms, a walled courtyard with cobblestone surfacing, an underground brick kitchen, a tap room and lodging rooms furnished in the manner of Colonial Virginia give an excellent picture of tavern hospitality as it was enjoyed at this famous inn.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

One of the best-known inns in Virginia, Gadby's Tavern comprises two adjoining buildings; the smaller City Tavern, which was built first, and the three-story brick building which was added 40 years later. Under both John Wise and John Gadsby, to whom Wise leased the tavern in 1794, the hostelry was renowned for both its hospitality and architecture.

Both buildings, especially the earlier one, are excellent representatives of their respective periods and styles.
